

Sam Johnston, Business Manager

Born into a military family, Mrs. Sam Johnston entered this world in Molesworth, England. At 2, her family returned to the States and settled in San Antonio, Texas. She completed her secondary schooling at Samuel Clemons High School and immediately enrolled in college. Challenging and excelling in accounting, Mrs. Johnston received her Bachelor of Business Administration degree from Texas State University. She pursued her expertise and excelled greatly but felt God was calling her to use her gifts and talents elsewhere.

In 2003 she finally understood what that calling was, middle school math. Mrs. Johnston embraced the calling and shared her love of numbers and operations with many young minds. She remained in this position until recent years. It turns out her gifts were needed in a new area of F.B.C.S. She is currently serving as the Business Manager for both First Baptist Christian School and First Baptist Church.

When she is not making sense of numbers, Mrs. Johnston loves to visit her three daughters, all former alumni of F.B.C.S. They have all become strong Christian ladies who use their talents and knowledge from their tenure at F.B.C.S. to spread the Gospel.
